Ideal for a keen collector, this Japanese cedar (cryptomeria japonica) is sankan style with three trunks and a slim, elegant silhouette. It originates from the nursery of a famous bonsaist, Masui Mitsuo based in Kanagawa-ken prefecture. The green foliage turns rust brown in winter with the arrival of the cold weather. There are no major wounds or traces of cut branches. The main trunk has a good conical shape and established nebari at the base. Photo November 2020.
